Description:

Injection molding is a manufacturing technology for the mass-production of identical plastic parts with good tolerances. In injection Molding, polymer granules are first melted and then injected under pressure into a mold. where the liquid plastic cools and solidifies. the materials used in injection Molding are thermoplastic polymers that can be colored or filled with other additives.

Advantage:

Large volume runs of simple or complex uniform parts with tight tolerance.
Compared to 3D printing or CNC machining, the injection molding process is much faster when it comes to production in mass quantities.
Reliable manufacturing for repeated production runs after the prototyping phase has concluded.

Application:

Automotive, consumer goods, medical, industrial and electronics.
